

AR SHE Peter Shephard Collection

The collection contains drawings, photographs, project files, correspondence, personal papers and drawings of nudes and birds.

Sir Peter Faulkner Shephard (1913-2002) was an architect and landscape architect. He trained at the Liverpool School of Architecture as a last minute switch from reading Natural Sciences at Cambridge. Shephard moved to London in 1937 where he worked as an assistant for Bridgwater and Mitchell. During the first part of the war he worked at the propellant planning department at the Ministry of Supply, on the construction of Royal Ordnance factories. In 1943 he joined Abercrombie's staff to work on the Greater London Plan for post-war regeneration and growth in the capital. Shephard remained at the Ministry of Town and Country Planning, sharing a room with Hugh Casson, working on early prototypes for the new towns. In 1948 Shephard formed a partnership with Derek Bridgwater and with the addition of Gabriel Epstein and Peter Hunter formed the practice of Shephard, Epstein and Hunter where he stayed until 1989. Projects included work on social housing, schools and teacher training colleges. Shephard was president of the Architectural Association, president of the Landscape Institute from 1965-1966 and from 1969-1971 president of RIBA. He also had a talent for drawing, illustrating two books on ducks and woodland birds in the King Penguin series. He was appointed CBE in 1972 and knighted in 1980. In 2000 he received the Landscape Institute Gold Medal.
