- FR Wellington/1564 Documents relating to a claim for compensation concerning Riseley Mill, Heckfield 1855-60
(The stream feeding the Mill was diverted by the War Dept., who purchased the Fleet Pond, causing a considerable lessening of the volume of water flowing to the Mill. The Duke of Wellington therefore applied to the War Dept. for compensation, and although this was agreed, the actual amount had to be decided by arbitration; while this process was taking place, the Duke installed a steam engine at the Mill in order to replenish the water supply. The compensation finally awarded covered the cost of this, but dispute arose as to whether the Duke was entitled to apply it to meeting the cost of the machinery, in view of his status as tenant in tail rather than in fee simple. This was finally settled by reference to the Master of the Rolls, and thence to the Lords of appeal in Chancery)
