Introduction

Marion R. Thompson Grierson (-1999) was a landscape architect, lecturer and artist. Born in Hungary, she came to England with her family as refugees at the beginning of the Second World War. Passionate about flowers from an early age, Thompson studied at Wye College and later at Thames Polytechnic, while working at Timothy Cochrane's practice after classes. Due to her vast knowledge of plants she was invited to take up a part time teaching course at Thames Polytechnic. Thompson worked with different architects including Arup Associates and got to know American born art collector Stanley Seeger who took an interest in her work. Thompson worked on the gardens at Seeger's home, Sutton Place and his next home, Deanery. In 1989 Thompson left Thames Polytechnic joining a plant hunting group at Jardin Botanica, Brazil. Here she painted new species of plants over a period of 6 months, staying a further 3 months painting watercolours.

The Collection is arranged as follows:

- AR THO A Project Files
1972 - 1995
This series comprises Thompson's project files for her work on landscape design in the UK and in Italy including her work on the estate at Sutton Place and the Deanery gardens and also student projects undertaken for submission to the Institute of Landscape Architects.
- 41 files
- AR THO A/1 Sutton Place
1981-1986
Sutton Place was built in the mid-1520s for the Weston family and it remained in their possession until 1920, subsequent owners included the Duke of Sutherland and J. Paul Getty. In 1980 the estate was sold and the mansion and park leased to Stanley J Seeger who extensively renovated the house and commissioned the re-landscaping of the garden. The new landscape designs for the gardens and estates were designed by Sir Geoffrey Jellicoe. The Sutton Place Heritage Trust was established in April 1982 and took over the lease and additional areas of parkland. The Trust was established to preserve the atmosphere and character of an English country house and estate. The Trust intended to balance the agricultural needs of the estate with their ecological aims to provide a safe and secure habitat for a variety of wildlife. Marian Thompson was an Advisory Trustee for the estate and helped to manage the land with particular regard to the recording and conservation of wild life habitats and vegetation types, managing the woodland and allowing casual grazing to encourage biodiversity rather than for a commercial function. Her files reflect her work on surveying all areas of the estate and planting schemes for certain areas of the gardens including the lake area.
- 13 files
- AR THO A/1/1 Sutton Place, Estate Landscape Study
Oct 1981 - Mar 1982
A bound report written by Thompson on the agriculture and wildlife in various areas of the estate. The report is illustrated with black and white drawings and colour photographs of Marian's original drawings of the various areas studied. The report is annotated by Thompson and includes a soil map of the estate. The file includes an unbound, uncorrected draft of the report.
The report was originally spiral bound, the plastic spiral binding has been removed.

- AR THO B Teaching Files
1966 - 1989
Thompson studied at Wye College for a BSc in Horticulture from 1955 until 1958 and later at Thames Polytechnic for a DipLD from 1971 until 1976, while working at Timothy Cochrane's practice after classes. Due to her vast knowledge of plants she was invited to take up a part time teaching course at Thames Polytechnic which she continued in until 1989. These files are primarily Thompson's research for her teaching but it can be seen from the content of these files that she has drawn heavily on her own notes, taken while a student both at Wye College and Thames Polytechnic, to compose her own lectures.
- 26 files
- AR THO B/1 File of course programme notes from Thames Polytechnic 1971-1989
Programme handouts given to students in the Faculty of Architecture and Landscape who were attending various agriculture and landscape courses.
- 1 file
- AR THO B/2 Files of papers relating to the teaching of Landscape Management - various plant lists and reference material 1971-1983
Students of landscape architecture are encouraged to create a plant register or manual which they continue to work on throughout their working career. These notes have been collected by Thompson to provide the basis for the plant lists that she created for her students at Thames Polytechnic and also as a basis for the Plant Materials and Nursery Practice courses. The files include preparation for various plant species lists, publications, newscuttings and include notes from Thompson's own time as a student. Other reference material relates to influences of climate and British butterflies and their foodstuff.
- 3 files
- AR THO B/3 Files of papers relating to the teaching of Landscape Management - managing nature reserves, historic and botanic gardens and other outdoor amenity spaces 1966-1989
These files represent Thompson's research in preparation for teaching. The files cover the subjects that would have been taught as part of Landscape Management modules including the management of nature reserves, historic and botanic gardens, amenity spaces and country parks, sporting areas and in educational settings such as nature trails. Thompson prepared
