

LLEWELLYN TREACHER PHOTOGRAPHS

P DX320

This collection consists of around 900 negatives, taken from the 1890s to the 1930s, showing mainly Twyford and surrounding area, but also archaeological subjects from across England and Wales.

The Collection covers the year's 1890's-1930's.

The physical extent of the collection is 1162 Photographs.

Introduction

Llewellyn Treacher (1859-1943) came from one of the leading families of Twyford in Berkshire, involved in building and market gardening. Among Llewellyn's interests was geology, and he was elected a Fellow of the Geological Society in 1893. He was also an antiquarian and local historian researching the area around Twyford.
