

David Scrivener Collection

D DS

David Scrivener (1952 – 2015) was a committed and enthusiastic poultry-keeper.

He earned a National Diploma in Poultry from Harper Adams Agricultural College in Shropshire. He utilised his expertise as a judge at various shows for the Poultry Club of Great Britain.

David had a passion for rare breeds, particularly the Spanish, which he kept, and fulfilled various roles for the Rare Poultry Society, variously acting as Chairman, Honorary Historian and Patron.

He was the author of several books on the subject including Starting with Bantams (2002), Exhibition Poultry Keeping (2005), Rare Poultry Breeds (2006) and Popular Poultry Breeds (2009).

The Collection covers the year's 1893 to 2007; undated.

The physical extent of the collection is 17 boxes, 13 oversize items.

D DS 1

Slides

c. 1980 to 2015

Contains slides of various poultry species arranged by species and breed. Much of the information used here was obtained from Scrivener's own annotations for each slide.

Many of these photographs are studio portraits, used to illustrate Scrivener's publications. A large proportion of the photographs were taken by John Tarren.

Some boxes have been labelled with people's names, presumably friends and fellow poultry breeders.
